

Makéda Lowe is a triple threat performing artist and a recent graduate of the American Musical & Dramatic Academy where she studied under Antoinette DiPietropolo, Kelli Gautreau and Michelle Bruckner. She has choreographed for the Off-Broadway Production of "Kingdom of Kingston" as well as serve as an Entertainment Ambassador for Dreamworks' "Trolls World" in New York City. She started dancing at Dance Strides Barbados and has since danced with EBCCI, Operation Triple Threat and Barbados Dance Project. While studying at BDP she performed international works by Jamal Callendar, Chanel DaSilva and René McDonald. Having a love for kids and inspiring others, Makéda can't wait to begin teaching at PowerHouse Studios.
